

Learn, explore and play over March Break with the City of St. Catharines

March 12, 2020 — Looking for something to do with the family over March Break? Why not build a fort with oversized foam building blocks, strap on a pair of skates and get out on the ice one last time this winter, or explore the science of optical illusions while building your own toy?

Whatever the age, and whatever the interest, the City of St. Catharines has families covered when it comes to fun, engaging activities for March Break be it a dive into local history, or a dive into the pool at the St. Catharines Kiwanis Aquatics Centre.

Skating

There's no shortage of opportunities to get out on the ice at City arenas over March Break, with public skates scheduled for the Meridian Centre, Seymour-Hannah Sports and Entertainment Centre, Bill Burgoyne Arena and Jack Gatecliff Arena.

Check out our March 2020 skating schedule for full details. Regular rates and admissions requirements apply. Visit www.stcatharines.ca/skating for a full schedule and more information.

St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre

From creating your own optical illusion toy to interactive tours celebrating the trailblazing women of St. Catharines there's a full week of fun at the museum. March Break programming includes Creation Station workshops, the Walking Through History Interactive Map, Trailblazing Women of St. Catharines tours, scavenger hunts and the LEGO Build-a-Boat Challenge. What's more all programming is drop-in and by donation.

Visit www.stcatharines.ca/MuseumEvents for a full schedule and further details.

Swimming

Get in the pool and make some waves at the St. Catharines Kiwanis Aquatics Centre over March Break with an array of leisure swims and drop-in programming.

Regular rates and admission requirements apply. Visit www.stcatharines.ca/swimming for more information.

Pop Up Playtent

All ages fun is on the menu with the City's Pop Up Playtent. From the ever-popular Big Blue Blocks tactile learning and play environment to the St. Catharines Public Library Button Maker there will be more than enough to keep kids entertained at the St. Catharines Kiwanis Aquatics Centre.

Monday, March 16 to Friday, March 20; noon to 5 p.m.

For more information on all the fun the City of St. Catharines has to offer over March Break visit www.stcatharines.ca/MarchBreak.
